

AS A WOMAN THINKETH

By HELEN ROWLAND.
How To Be Loved.

EVERYBODY wants to be loved! It is the one thing that every normal human being wants most in the whole wide world. What? No? Oh, let's be honest—admit it!

To love is a glorious luxury—but to be loved is a life long necessity. Wealth, power, honors, titles—what do you want these for? To make yourself lovable, admitted, sought after, desirable. Why does an actress crave fame, money, popularity? So that she may shine in someone's eyes—and be loved.

What do YOU want with success of any kind? To lay it at the feet of someone who loves you—so that she will be the face of someone whom you wish to love you.

Love is the best of virtues, the broadest, the most, the wisest, and the dearest of life!

All legislation, all accomplishment, all achievement, all struggle, all work, all roads lead—to love!

It is the goal at the end of every race, the prize in every game.

And, as you grow older, and the glitter wears off your thimble fingers, and one by one the little pleasures of life fade away, and there is nothing worth while left—except to be loved!

Let's be CAREFUL! We cannot our love hunger, because our love, our vanity, our greed, our cynicism, our shorts, our inferiorities. How can we be loved—and how can we be successful? We are 30, 40, 50, 60, 70, 80, 90, 100, 110, 120, 130, 140, 150, 160, 170, 180, 190, 200, 210, 220, 230, 240, 250, 260, 270, 280, 290, 300, 310, 320, 330, 340, 350, 360, 370, 380, 390, 400, 410, 420, ## 14 Years Ago Today

From The Herald of This Date, 1906.

THE work of placing the postoffice in the new room which Uncle Sam will occupy in the library building in El Paso, Ariz., is well under way. Postmaster Cassel expects to be able to get into the new quarters by the last week in January.

J. H. Gilchrist and A. N. Howell were sworn in as policemen this morning at the city hall, having been appointed by Mayor Davis on the recommendation of chief of police J. W. Summers.

Miss Elsie Luckins was a charming hostess at a Salamagundi and dancing party yesterday evening at her home on Stanton street. The party was given complimentary to Miss Pearl Atkins. Those present were: Misses Adine Neake, Milda Connolly, Lucille Smith, Kate Adams, Jessie Launess, Lucille Wade, Loreta Brink, and Phoebe Lucas; Charles Laughlin, Hal Christy, Mike and Tom Green, Jean Ramsey, Jean Harris, Jim Sand, Grover Smith.

The first meeting of the Women's club after the holidays was held. Mrs. J. E. Townsend, the president, presided. Mrs. Mary Towers, of the Minneapolis club, Mrs. E. J. Hart, of Los Angeles, and Miss Patsy of Denver were present as guests.

Annoying Elbows

By EDNA KENT FORBES

A WOMAN'S elbows have become one of the most important parts of her this season. I never in my life dreamed that short sleeves could be so short, or that they would have the vogue they are now enjoying.

In Paris every frock had short sleeves when I had a little. If one went out on the street on a day warm enough to leave one's coat at home, she wore a piece of fur cloth about the neck and gloves that came only slightly above the wrist or almost up to the elbow.

When I left Paris they were beginning to make street gowns without any sleeves at all, and a titled nobleman who runs one of the city's most expensive establishments, brought over a number of them for the American women. One frock which was typical, was made of dove gray broadcloth, with a quantity of embroidery in cream and silver outlined in black. It not only had no sleeves, but the arm hole was cut extremely wide. One of our best dressed actresses who boasts having the most beautiful back in America, recently purchased a street frock without any sleeves whose armhole was rounded over the shoulders, but came to a point under the arm—a point which nearly reached the waist. Sometimes very fancy little underbodies are worn with these and allowed to show under the arm. Sometimes they aren't!

All this of course, only emphasizes the fact that the elbow must be soft and pink and as beautiful as the rest of the arm, and in frankly, a hard matter to make it so. If you are too thin, your elbows will be scrawny and the best thing you can do is to cover soft ruffles in your short sleeves, to cover the elbow. Otherwise, this is the daily treatment which will positively make your elbows beautiful.

Rub the elbows thoroughly with cleansing cream; scrub them and the arm with hot water and moderately stiff soap. Rub with a little oil. Dry. If you are going to bed you can massage a flesh building cream into your elbows, or a little olive oil. Otherwise, rub them with the Honey-Almond lotion or vanilla cream. The only time approval of using vanishing cream is in connection with the elbows. If you are going out cover them liberally with powder and I am sure you will be pleased with their appearance.

P. K.—Purifying feet are usually too dry and need oil. Massage every

IN THE office.

OF A local corporation.

WHERE A kindly boss.

HAS ENDEARED himself.

TO ALL of those.

WHO WORK with him.

THEY PLANNED a gift.

TO GIVE the boss.

AND EVERY one.

FROM OFFICE boy.

UP TO the man.

NEXT TO the boss.

GAVE WHAT he could.

TO BUY the gift.

AND WHAT they raised.

WAS QUITE a sum.

AND THEN one night.

WHEN WORK was through.

AND THE boss had gone.

THEY SAT around.

AND ALL discussed.

WHAT SHOULD be bought.

AND WHILE they talked.

A WOMAN came.

WITH MOP and pail.

JUST AS she came.

ON EVERY night.

TO MOP the tile.

AND THE office boy.

WAS MOVED to say.

IN WHISPERS to some.

"WE OUGHT to do something."

"FOR THE old scrub lady."

"SHE'S GOT four kids."

AND THESE three times.

FROM OUT of the month.

OF THE office boy.

HAD A strange affect.

FOR IT came to pass.

THAT AT 5 o'clock.

ON THE afternoon.

IN THE boss's office.

THE OFFICE boy.

CAME IN red faced.

AND IN his wake.

CAME THE "old scrub lady."

AND ON behalf.

OF THE office force.

THE BOSS presented.

There is an herb which grows wild on our Western Plains known as "Manzanita" and to which the Indians attribute wonderful curative and healing virtues.

There is no question but that nature has bountifully provided in the roots and bark of the dried remedy for many of the ills to which human flesh is heir. This is demonstrated by the wonderful process of that root and herb medicine, Lydia E. It will certainly pay any woman who so suffers to try it.—Adv.

About Broadway Plays And Players

By HIDE DUDLEY.

NEW YORK, Jan. 1.—The name of Claire Nagle now appears in the program of Frank Tinney's show, "Dixie 116," at the Biltmore theater. Miss Nagle is none other than Mrs. Arthur Hammerstein. She married the theatrical producer after an engagement at the same theater in "Dixie 116," a year and a half ago. She was the girl in the vase that the posters showed. At the time Mrs. Hammerstein renounced the stage and all its works to supervise the bookkeeping for her husband. But now the bookkeepers, the frying pan and the broom have fallen on the young woman and she's back behind the footlights. Arthur is in entire accord with the move. He confesses, when cornered, that the bookkeepers were awful.

THEY'VE ADDED A PEANUT. We're getting back to normal. We've quit our spending jag. It's true because it's growing—I mean the peanut bar.

THE "HEAL-ALL" OF THE INDIANS

In reply to our question as to whether or not it might be best for actors to give honest and managers to "bumbling cooperation" and thus get some shows off on their Frank Tinney, we received a letter from the Biltmore, replying as follows:

We agree with you that the theatrical game is a gamble from top to bottom, but the gamble is rather one-sided. If the play is successful the actor does not share in the profits, but just receives a salary. Managers, presuming that the manager does not feel inclined to increase his salary by lifting a theater man. Actors are great gamblers, as witnessed by the fact that the French Opera company came to us a little over a week ago and asked our advice about going to Washington. We urged them strongly not to do so, but in spite of that they went and now are sending us wires begging for their return fare and enough money to pay their hotel bills.

Mr. Gilmore mentions other similar cases, and then asks: "Are not the above experiences justification for our endeavor to secure an Equity shop which would prevent fly-by-night managers from repeating experiments which are disastrous to the actor?"

OUR OWN FICTION.

She was a society girl.

Christmas morning came and she awoke.

Gifts were in her room in profusion.

The fair girl examined them one by one.

When it was all over a smile came to her face.

"I have received exactly what I wanted," she said.

Then she added: "For once in my life I have all the clothes I need."

This is fiction.

(The end.)

FROM THE CHESTNUT TREE.

Minstrel—Jude, I saw the milkman this morning. He said: "I'll take in the milk, myself."

Then she added: "For once in my life I have all the clothes I need."

This is fiction.

(The end.)

A NICE TIME WAS HAD.

The members of the "Mecca" and "Agora" companies are recovering today from a celebration they had on the stage of the Century theater. A rejoice was a ballad de bottle entitled "Minstrel of the Mecca." The Century stage hands gave Minstrel a gold watch and the "Mecca" troupe slipped him a silver desk set.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all diseases come from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, a physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.</
